Investment objective and approach

- Aiming to achieve an absolute return over the medium term through capital growth
- Investing primarily in European equities and equity related securities on both a long and short basis
- Differentiated and disciplined bottom up investment philosophy complemented by a macroeconomic overlay to support sector positioning
- Flexible net exposure between -10 and +50% driven by fundamental idea generation and market volatility
- Target 6-8% volatility and 8-10% expected return over a full market cycle

Monthly Comment

Markets continued to be weak in November, dragged by a combination of negative earnings revisions, a slump in the oil price and by trade uncertainties. ELEVA Absolute Return Europe was down -1.09%.

The long book had a negative impact on performance with Energy, Materials and Consumer Discretionary names the poorest contributors. There was a marked outperformance of mega caps in Europe in almost every sector and by the brutal rotation out of growth oriented mid and large caps. Oil services companies (Subsea 7, Saipem) were under heavy selling pressure, a consequence of the slump in oil prices. Material companies also fell, despite a greater resilience of the underlying commodities (South 32, UPM Kymmene). That said, mega cap defensives posted a positive performance in the month, Raiffeisen outperformed thanks to a positive set of results.

The short book had a positive impact on performance, with strong contributors in the Technology, Materials and Consumer Discretionary sectors. We had a number of successful shorts in growth-oriented names, as well as in companies directly affected by the deterioration in credit spreads.

We continue to keep a growth bias on the long book of the Fund, we note a further deterioration of our leading indicators in the month. In our view, this is to be weighed against an attractive valuation backdrop for European equities

As of 30th November 2018, gross exposure is 107% whilst net exposure is at 23%. Since inception, Eleva Absolute Return Europe is up 1.25%.
