Monthly Comment

Markets continued its positive trend in February, fuelled by an improvement in US-China trade dynamics combined with lower probabilities of a no-deal Brexit. Corporate results were also generally better than originally feared by market participants. ELEVA European Selection was up 4.12%, an underperformance of 3 bps versus the index.

The sector allocation impact was slightly negative in the month, our overweight in Industrials was unable to fully compensate our underweight in Financials and Consumer Staples. Stock picking was slightly positive; difficult in Communication services, but better in Technology and Consumer Discretionary. On the contributors, nursing home operator Orpea recovered after a weak patch with a better than expected outlook. In addition, Airbus and Altran Technology's results were also well received. Generally, Financials and Commodity names had a strong month.

On the contrary, Ubisoft led the detractors on continued fears, unfounded in our view, of greater competitive intensity in the video games industry. The outlook of Gold operator Fresnillo also disappointed.

Our leading indicators have inflected in January. While the macro economic backdrop is still challenging, particularly in Europe, it appears leading indicators are unlikely to get much worse. Indeed, we see some better signals in China and US. Consequently, we have been adding to Cyclical and Value in late December/ January. Valuations in this space declined materially in 2018 and multiples have dropped, in many cases, by more than 30 pct. The Value exposure of the European Selection portfolio has now moved up to 57% of the portfolio.

Since inception, Eleva European Selection is up 27.14% versus the index up 12%, an outperformance of 1514 bps.
