Monthly Comment

Markets were flat in May, affected by material political uncertainty in Italy and the ongoing slowdown in leading indicators, somewhat compensated by weakness in the €. ELEV A Absolute Return Europe was up 1.98%.

The long book had a very positive impact on performance with strong contributors in Consumer Discretionary, Technology and Industrials. The Fund benefited from the sharp appreciation of Puma with the spin off from Kering making the company investable again whilst the brand continues to have strong global momentum. Ocado also rose sharply with the signature of a huge contract with Kroger in the US. The development should act as a multi-year platform for growth validating their differentiated business model further. On the contrary, the value portion of the long book, banks in particular, was affected by the Italian crisis and was a drag on performance. Oriflame's results indicated a material deceleration in trends, leaving us disappointed. The short book had a positive impact with a number of particularly strong performers in the Financials sector.

In May, we initiated a long position in Beiersdorf. We are very impressed by the growth rates delivered by this family-owned group, not only by their Nivea brand but also by their upmarket cosmetic brand, La Prairie. In our view, this acceleration of growth does not look captured in consensus expectations. On the other hand, we sold Rocket Internet after a strong performance. More generally, we have continued to reduce the long cyclical and financial exposure in the portfolio in light of the sustained deterioration in leading indicators. Contrastingly, the short book is weightier in Industrials and Financials.

As of 31st May 2018, gross exposure is at 104.2%, while net exposure is at 21.8%. Since inception, ELEV A Absolute Return Europe is up 14.33%.
